Subject: RE: Sonos v. Google - 6:20-cv-00881 - Trial Date

Good afternoon Counsel,

The Court provided the Parties with a trial date of June 6, 2022 (your email says 2020 but I assume this was a typo). The Court ordered the Parties to use this date in your proposed scheduling order. The Court notes that on December 18, 2020, the Parties filed a Joint Motion to Enter Scheduling Order which was signed by both Parties and included the trial date of June 6, 2022. It should be clear to all Parties that trial has been set by the Court for June 6, 2022.

Please let me know if you have any other questions. Have a great rest of your week!

Best,
Hannah

Subject: Sonos v. Google - 6:20-cv-00881 - Trial Date

CAUTION - EXTERNAL:

Dear Hannah,

On August 21, 2020, Defendant Google filed a case against Sonos in Canada for patent infringement. This week Google has suggested that the trial date in this case (Sonos v. Google) has not been determined or may change. As such, in the Canadian case, Google seeks to proceed with a trial date of June 6, 2020 – which is the exact date this Court provided as the trial date for this case. As the Court is aware, the Court provided the parties with the June 6, 2020 trial date in an email memorializing the Case Management Conference, which is also incorporated in the Scheduling Order entered by the Court on January 5, 2021.

My experience has been that once Judge Albright sets a trial date, he sticks with it, absent some extraordinary circumstance. So that Sonos can accurately portray the WDTX proceedings to the Canadian court, can you please confirm if the trial date is likely to change?

Sincerely,

Mark Siegmund
